ENGLISH TRANSLATIONS

*When sorrow strikes , won't you take
the harp,
And add sweetness to my life-Won't
you,*

*Add sweetness to me –Won't you,
Remove the pain in my heart bereft
of love,*

By singing in Tamil, Darling, Won't you remove the pain.

*In this world surrounded by
meddling and simplicity,
For adding feelings to this life –for,
Adding feelings to my life –won't
you,*

*Dance the steps of ancient Tamil
dance-darling
Dance and show us
Dance and show us*

ARTIST STATEMENT

In “Kasta Bhaisakthyeun Haami”, Jowahar Roka beautifully reframes exclusion as a pain that impacts everyone—the majority *and* the marginalized.

Social justice movements only succeed when there is empathy, understanding, and unity across groups. But how does one first realize that poetry is the right tool to cultivate that true shared understanding? That it has the power to break past the wall of superficial, intellectual sympathy?

Quite literally starting in one of my own dreams, I began envisioning a meeting of the minds. Two social justice oriented poets, two contemporaries on either side of a border, coming together to explain how the arts are the right tool to evoke the universal emotions that connect us all. Rooted in that emotional connection, we can then bridge different intellectual perspectives to build soulful alliances and cultivate meaningful solidarity.

And thus, our poets reveal to our young artist that the arts do not merely alleviate one's immediate suffering. That same art is what will successfully ignite the movements that extinguish long-term suffering.

SOWMYA JUJJURI — DANCE CAPTAIN

began her Kuchipudi training under the guidance of Smt. Priyadarshini Madhunapantula, later continuing her studies with Smt. Prashanti Harathi. She completed her foundational dance education with Anuradha Ganesh, the artistic director of Nartana Kuchipudi in Portland.

SRINIDHI SRINIVASAN — DANCER

is a Bharatanatyam dancer and choreographer. She has been studying the art form for over twenty years under multiple gurus, including Guru Subhashini Santhanam and currently under Guru Anwesha Das in Seattle.

AKSHAYA ARUNKUMAR — VOCALIST

is an accomplished carnatic vocalist, graded by All India Radio, Government of India. She trained under Padma Shri Smt.Lalitha Chandran of the Bombay Sisters and Smt.Sankari Krishnan. Akshaya actively performs as a vocalist for classical dance productions. Akshaya is the show music captain.

ADITYA ISWARA — MRIDANGAM, KANJIRA

is trained in Mridangam, Carnatic Music, and Bharatanatyam with an abundant sense of rhythm. He is a disciple of Sri Poovalur Sriji, for Mridangam and Kanjira, Sri Vittal Ramamurthy for Carnatic Violin, and a disciple of his mother, Smt. Vani Iswara for Bharatanatyam.

ANIRUDH RAMAKRISHNAN — MRIDANGAM

has been learning Mridangam from Shri. Gopi Lakshminarayanan for the past 8 years. He also learns carnatic vocal from Smt. Kasthuri Shivakumar of IAIM. In his free time, Anirudh likes to read books, play chess, bike, and participate in cross country.

KEERTHI KRISHNAN — VIOLINIST

is a violinist from the San Francisco Bay Area. He started his tutelage with Smt. Anuradha Sridhar and now continues under Smt. Sandhya Srinath. He is an avid accompanist and performer and has performed across multiple organizations in the Bay Area.

about the directors

Swetha Prabakaran

choreographer

As Artistic Director of The Modern Natya Company™, Swetha explores themes around third-culture/diasporic identity, femininity, and accessibility. She is a 2025 Voices of Bhakti Fellow (by Interfaith America), Center for Cultural Innovation Awardee, and AXIS Choreo Lab Fellow (by Mellon Foundation)

In June 2025, Swetha made history as the first South Asian choreographer in AXIS Dance Company's 38-year history. Other recent works have been presented at Berkeley Art Museum and Pacific Film Archive (BAMPFA), Dance Mission Theater, and many more.

Swetha performed her Bharatanatyam arangetram in Tirunelveli, India under Smt. Subhashini Krishnakumar (a disciple of Smt. Kalaimamani K.J. Sarasa) in 2015. She completed undergraduate studies at UC Berkeley's Dance, & Performance Studies program before training in Disabled Dance pedagogy with AXIS and Dark Room Ballet.

ABOUT THE DIRECTORS

POETS IN CONVERSATION

Shrikrishna Shivakumar

composer

Shrikrishna Shivakumar started learning vocal music from his parents Smt. Kasthuri Shivakumar and Shri Shivakumar Bhat at age 4; he now receives advanced training from Sangeetha Kalanidhi Shri Neyveli R. Santhanagopalan. Shrikrishna has won many competition prizes including at Cleveland Thyagaraja Utsavam and the People's Choice award in Carnatic Music Idol USA.

Shrikrishna and Shrikanth—the Shri Brothers—have performed many concerts around the US and in India, including organizations like Dhvani, Brindavani, CCC, Lotus, iCarnatic, and SR Fine Arts.

Shrikrishna additionally learns mridangam from Vidwan Shri Vinod Seetharaman and had his arangetram accompanying Neyveli sir. Shrikrishna teaches young, aspiring students at the International Academy of Indian Music in the Bay Area.

POETS IN CONVERSATION was developed by The Modern Natya Company (a project of Swetha Prabakaran Productions) with the support of the Voices of Bhakti Fellowship by Interfaith America.

The performance filming was co-presented by the Fremont Cultural Arts Council & Asian Pacific Islander Cultural Center (APICC) as part of the 28th annual United States of Asian America Festival, which is made possible thanks to the National Endowment for the Arts, San Francisco Arts Commission Grants for the Arts, Fleishhacker Foundation, and other generous supporters.

The Modern Natya

Company™ blends Indian

classical arts with Western contemporary techniques to explore social issues

important to the South Asian diaspora. MNC uses film and live performance to challenge

audiences to see

Bharatanatyam as a versatile

movement foundation that isn't limited to “classical”

traditional performances;

rather, MNC's trailblazing

projects show how

Bharatanatyam can—and should—be used as a

storytelling tool across

diverse media.
